

This illustration is intended to challenge beliefs that certain stereotypical characteristics of neurodivergent conditions are always weaknesses and can never be strengths. To be used for discussion purposes only.